Team USA stars lead the Americas against the world at the Continental Cup

INDIANAPOLIS – David Oliver, Jeremy Wariner, Christian Cantwell, Kara Patterson and Alysia Johnson are just a few of the U.S. stars that will lead the Americas against the world September 4-5 at the inaugural IAAF Continental Cup in Split, Croatia.

Formerly known as the IAAF World Cup in Athletics, the Continental Cup is a four continent competition between Africa, the Americas, Asia/Pacific and Europe. The Americas team is composed of athletes from NACAC (North American, Central American and Caribbean track and field federations), and South America. The Continental Cup title will be awarded to the continent with the highest collective point total of both men's and women's teams.

The teams will consist of two athletes per individual event however, only one athlete from any one country may compete in each individual event.

2008 Olympic Games bronze medalist and reigning U.S. Outdoor champion David Oliver will lead the America's men's squad. Oliver is in the midst of a season where he has set the American 110m hurdles record on two occasions will look to continue his season-long dominance. After tying the American record (12.90) at the Nike Prefontaine Classic in Eugene, Ore., on July 3, Oliver sliced one-hundredth of a second off that time in setting the record later that month of 12.89 at the Samsung IAAF Diamond League Meeting Areva.

2004 Olympic gold medalist and 2008 Olympic silver medalist Jeremy Wariner is back on top of the world in men's 400m competition. Wariner, who won the silver medal at last year's World Championships in Berlin, posted the fastest time in the world this year with his winning time of 44.13 last week in Zurich.

Also entering the event ranked #1 in the world is reigning World Outdoor men's shot put champion Christian Cantwell, who owns the top two marks globally this season with his best coming from his July 3 win at the Nike Prefontaine Classic in Eugene, Ore., of 22.41m/73-6.25. Cantwell, who also owns an Olympic silver medal and is a three-time World Indoor champ, last year became the first shot putter ever to regain the #1 world ranking from Track & Field News following a four-year absence.

Newly-minted American record holder Kara Patterson is set to lead the America's women's team. In the midst of a breakout season, she set the American record of 66.67m/218-8 in the javelin when she won the 2010 USA Outdoor Championships and she now has 12 of the longest throws in U.S. history.

The 2010 World Indoor bronze medalist, Alysia Johnson is enjoying a solid 2010 campaign. Having won the 2010 USA Outdoor Championships in 1:59.87, Johnson has set three personal bests, broken the two minute barrier six times and owns the current world leader of 1:57.34.

Camarena qualified for her first Olympic Team in the women's shot put with her third-place finish at the 2008 U.S. Olympic Team Trials. It was Camarena's first competition of the 2008 Outdoor season and came less than three months after she had back surgery to repair a herniated disc...At the 2006 AT&T USA Indoor Championships, Camarena made a bit of history in the women's shot put with her winning throw of 19.26m/63-2.25. The performance made her the #3 American of all time, behind only American record holder Ramona Pagel (19.83m/65-0.75 in 1987) and Tressa Thompson (19.44m/63-9.5 in 1999)...Camarena brought home her first national title at the 2005 USA Indoor Championships when she won the women's shot put with her heave of 17.31m/56-9.5... showed promise with her third-place finish at the 2004 Olympic Trials, but did not meet the Olympic "A" qualifying standard. A multi-talented thrower, she holds the sixth best throw in the discus on Stanford's all-time list...gained All-America honors while at Woodland High School where she won the 2000 California state discus title and the 1999 state shot put crown. Her runner-up finish in the shot put at USA Juniors earned her a berth on Team USA which competed at the 2001 Pan Am Junior Championships in Argentina, where she won the gold medal in the shot...married Dustin Williams on September 5, 2009.

Career Highlights: 2009 World Outdoor champion; 2008 Olympic silver medalist; 2008 Olympic Trials runner-up; Three-time World Indoor champion ('04, '08, '10); 2010 USA Outdoor champion; Four-time U.S. Indoor champion ('04, '07, '08, '10); 2007 Indoor Visa champion; 2003 World Athletics Final champion

Cantwell, who entered the 2010 season ranked #1 in the world by Track & Field News, won his fourth USA Indoor title with a best throw of 21.13 meters/69 feet 4 inches at the 2010 championships in Albuquerque. The 2007 Indoor Visa champion, Cantwell won the men's Visa Championship Series title and a $30,000 bonus from Visa. Shortly after that, Cantwell won his fourth career World Indoor Championships title in Doha, Qatar. Cantwell captured the first World Outdoor Championship gold medal of his career at the 2009 World Athletics Championships in Berlin, Germany. Cantwell grabbed the early lead in the competition with his first round throw of 21.54 meters/70 feet 8 inches. 2008 Olympic champion Tomasz Majewski of Poland wrested the lead from Cantwell with his fourth-round toss of 21.68m/71-1.50, and increased it in round 5 when he threw 21.91m/71-10.75. Cantwell needed a clutch performance late in the competition and got it in round 5 with his winning throw of 22.03m/72-3.50, which was the third best throw in the world that outdoor season. Cantwell ended the 2009 outdoor season with the three best throws in the world, his best coming on August 31 in Zagreb with his toss of 22.16m/72-8.50. Cantwell saved his best throw for last at the 2008 Olympic Games with a mark of 21.09m/69-2.5, to move from fifth to second in the sixth and final round of throwing in winning the silver medal. Cantwell's 2008 season got off to a brilliant start after an up and down 2007 campaign with his third career USA Indoor championship and second gold medal winning performance at a World Indoor Championships. He also qualified for his first Olympic team through his runner-up performance at the 2008 Olympic with his toss of 21.71m/71-2.75 on his sixth and final attempt. Cantwell cemented his victory in the men's shot put at the 2007 AT&T USA Indoor Championships with his first throw of 21.72meters /71 feet 3.5 inches. Cantwell had led the 2007 Visa Championship Series since his winning heave of 21.88m/71-9 at the 100th Millrose Games earned him 1,233 points. For his championship performance, Cantwell won $25,000 from Visa. In 2006, Cantwell posted the top-three outdoor throws in the world, and six of the top eight throws. Cantwell commanded world attention with his gold medal-winning performance at the 2004 World Indoor Championships, and by posting the top four throws in the world that outdoor season before ending the campaign ranked #1 in the world by Track & Field News. Despite his disappointing fourth place finish at the 2004 Olympic Trials, where he fouled on all but one of his attempts to end a 14-meet winning streak, Cantwell threw 21.95m/72-0.25 early in the year at Columbia, which is the best indoor shot put performance by an American since 1989...his outdoor PR came at the 2004 adidas Oregon Track Classic (22.54/73-11.50)...Cantwell made a huge splash by winning the 2003 World Athletics Final in Monaco against many of the world's best shot putters, concluding a 2003 season that saw the 23-year-old set a new personal best (21.62/70-11.25) and break the 70-foot barrier for the second consecutive season...he followed up by winning the 2004 U.S. & World Indoor titles...Cantwell in 2002 had two throws over 70 feet outdoors, and finished second to Adam Nelson at USA Indoors with a best of 20.86m/68-5.25...a six-time All-American, three-time Big 12 Champion, and 13-time All-Big 12 performer...named Big 12 Freshman of the Year in 2000...scored 20 points at the 2002 Big 12 Championships (shot put – 1st, hammer – 3rd, discus – 5th)...Olympic Trials qualifier as a freshman...a hotel and restaurant management major at Missouri...owns PRs of 57.19/187-7 in the hammer and 59.31m/194-7 in the discus. Married Terri Steer in 2005...the couple had their first child on May 27, 2008, a son named Jackson Daniel.

Finishing second at the 2010 USA Outdoor Championships, Holliday proved she was indeed once again one of the top American female pole vaulters. Holliday finished 6th at the 2008 USA Outdoor Championships and claimed the top spot at the 2007 NACAC-under 23 championships. In 2006, she finished 3rd at the USA Outdoor Champs and 6th at USA Indoors, while the year before she tied for 4th at the 2005 USA Outdoor Championships. A young pole vaulter who took up the sport after a career in gymnastics, Holliday stamped her name on the record books in 2003 with her then collegiate-record clearance of 4.47m/14-8 at the NCAA West Regional at Stanford on May 30. She went on to win the 2003 NCAA Outdoor Championships in her birthplace of Sacramento, Calif., then competed for Team USA at the 2003 World Championships...Holliday did not pick up pole vault until the age of 16 after completing a distinguished career in gymnastics, where she was a four-time state champion in the all-around category in 12-16 age group and a three-time regional champion. It did not take her long to establish herself as a national-caliber pole vaulter. She was ranked #7 in the U.S. at the end of the 2001 season, in which she placed 5th at USA Outdoors and 8th at the World University Games.

Career Highlights: 2005 World Outdoor champion; 2008 Olympic Games bronze medalist; 2009 World Outdoor Champs bronze medalist; 2008 Olympic Trials champion; three-time USA Outdoor champion ('03,'09, '10); 2005 & 2010 USA Indoor 400m champion; 2010 World Indoor Champs 4x400m relay gold medalist; 2002 U.S. junior champion; 2002 World Junior bronze medalist; 2002 World Junior 4x400 champion

In coming off the final turn of the men's 400m final at the 2010 World Indoor Championships in Doha, Jackson was in second place until he was clipped from behind by Ireland's David Gillick. Jackson finished in sixth place but later was awarded fifth place when Gillick was disqualified. Jackson later teamed with Jamaal Torrance, Greg Nixon and Tavaris Tate in winning 4x400m relay gold at the championships in 3:03.40, which gave the American quartet a three-second margin of victory over second place Belgium. Jackson successfully defended his national title at the 2009 USA Outdoor Championships, where his winning time of 48.03 boosted him to the top of the seasonal world list. Jackson followed that success with a bronze medal winning performance at the 2009 World Outdoor Championships in Berlin, Germany. Following his heartbreaking 4th-place finish at the 2004 Olympic Trials, Jackson made sure he'd qualify for the 2008 Olympic Games by finishing first in the men's 400m hurdles at the Olympic Trials in Eugene, Ore. He went on to Beijing where he won the bronze medal, completing an American sweep of the event with teammates Angelo Taylor and Kerron Clement. Jackson's 2007 season was highlighted by wins at the Kansas Relays, Osaka GP, and at the Athens GP. In ending the 2007 season ranked #5 in the world, Jackson has been ranked in world's the top ten in the men's 400m hurdles by Track & Field News each year since 2003. The dominant force in the men's 400m hurdles throughout the 2005 season, Jackson was motivated by his failure to make the 2004 Olympic team. His determination paid off. Jackson used his tremendous finishing speed in capturing the gold medal at the World Outdoor Championships in Helsinki in a personal best time of 47.30 seconds. Jackson's victory was the first for an American in this event at a World Outdoor Championships since Derrick Adkins mined gold at Gothenburg in 1995 (47.98). With fellow American James Carter finishing second, it marked the first time Americans had finished 1-2 in the men's 400m hurdles since Rome in 1987 when National Track & Field Hall of Famer Edwin Moses won the gold and Danny Harris brought home the silver medal. Jackson and Carter's career best performances in Helsinki are even more impressive considering that the race was held during a torrential downpour in Helsinki. Their times were the second and third fastest in the world during the 2005 season. Jackson's 2005 season got off to a tremendous start with his performance at the USA Indoor Championships, where he won the 400m national title in 46.05 seconds. Jackson's only loss during the 2005 outdoor season came when he was the runner-up at the USA Outdoor Championships. His 12 worldwide wins in 2005 made him an easy choice for the coveted 400m hurdles world #1 ranking that year from Track & Field News. The newest phenom over the intermediate hurdles, Jackson has improved his personal best by more than 2 seconds since 2002. For the second season in a row, Jackson posted the second fastest time by an American with his monster (then) personal best of 47.86, which bettered his previous PR of 48.23 in winning at Madrid in 2003. The 2002 U.S. junior champion and World Junior bronze medalist, Jackson planned to be part of the University of South Carolina track powerhouse, but he instead competed on the circuit...In 2004 joined the St. Augustine's College roster... raised in Miami, he now lives and trains in Raleigh, N.C., where he is coached by 2004 Olympic Team Head Coach George Williams...daughter Shawnte was born May 2, 2005, daughter Shari was born August 3, 2009.

University of Nebraska graduate Dusty Jonas had a dream outdoor season in 2008 in posting the third highest outdoor clearance in the world and winning the NCAA Outdoor Championship. and placing third at the 2008 U.S. Olympic Trials, entered into a jump-off for the third Beijing roster spot because he held the Olympic "A" qualifying standard. Jonas tied for sixth-place at the Olympic Trials, but was entered into a jump-off against Scott Sellers to secure a roster spot for the Olympic Games. "It was one of those things where it was do or die," he said after the competition. At the 2008 Big 12 Outdoor Championships Jonas posted a monster personal best with his clearance of 2.36m/7-8.75, a new University of Nebraska school record, Big 12 Championship meet record and Big 12 Conference record. Jones made at the 2010 World Indoor Championships, becoming the first woman ever to claim back-to-back title in the 60m hurdles and setting an American record in the process. Jones burst out of the blocks at the gun and never looked back, storming down the tracks and over the hurdles to cross the finish line in a Championship record 7.72. Jones was so ecstatic upon crossing the finish line that she almost cleared one last hurdle, the sprint crash pad. It was Gail Devers' record of 7.74 from 2003 that Jones broke...Jones became the first back-to-back Visa champion with her win in the 60m hurdles at the 2009 USA Indoor Champs...Jones seemed destined for the top of the podium at the 2008 Olympic Games, owning the fastest time in the world and winning her races by large margins. Although a bit slow out of the blocks, she rallied quickly and was clear of the field by the eighth hurdle. The normally clean-hurdling Jones hit the ninth hurdle, made it over the 10th hurdle and ended in seventh place (12.72)...At the 2008 Olympic Trials, Jones was astounding in the 100m hurdles final, executing flawlessly and winning in 12.29 seconds (+3.8mps), tying the #2 time ever run under any conditions (windy or not). In the semifinals, Jones posted a 2008 world-leading mark by winning the second heat in 12.45 (+1.45)...After winning the USA Indoor title in 2007, Jones made her first U.S. team by finishing third at the USA Outdoor Championships, she went on to make the final and placed sixth at the 2007 IAAF World Championships. A recent graduate of LSU, Jones brings impressive foot speed to the 100m hurdles. Jones finished her career at LSU as a three-time national champion and 11-time All-American, where she ranks among the top-three all-time at LSU in both the 60 and 100-meter hurdles. She also has an NCAA title as part of LSU's 4x100m relay in 2004...In high school, Jones was named Gatorade Midwest Athlete of the year and holds the 100mH record for the state of Iowa (13.40)...is of French, African-American, Native American and Norwegian descent...her given name is Lori...considers speed off the final hurdle one of her greatest strengths...has appeared in an Anheuser Busch ad campaign...was named 2008 Visa Humanitarian Athlete of the Year after donating her $4,000 in prize money from the Olympic Trials to a fund assisting Renee Trout, a single mother from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who was a victim of the Iowa floods. Jones' sponsors each matched Jones' $4,000 prize, bringing the total donation to $12,000. She also gave each girl on Theodore Roosevelt High School track team a pair of spikes and made a $3,000 donation to the school to repair the track and buy hurdles while in town for the Drake Relays.

Career Highlights: American Record holder in 5,000; 2009 World Outdoor 1,500m bronze medalist, 5,000m silver medalist; 2007 World Outdoor 1,500m and 5,000m champion; 2004 Olympic 1,500m silver medalist; 2000 Olympic bronze medal; 2008 Olympic Trials 5,000m and 1,500m champion; 2004, 2010 World Indoor Champs 3,000m gold medalist; 2001 World Outdoor Champs 1,500m silver medalist; 2002 World Cup 1,500m champion; 2010 USA & World Indoor 3,000m champ; 2007 and 2010 USA Outdoor 5,000m champion; 2006 USA Outdoor 1,500m and 5,000m champion; U.S. indoor 5,000m, 1,500m, mile, 3,000m record holder; U.S. outdoor 1,500m record holder; 8-time Wanamaker Mile winner at Millrose Games.

Two-time Olympic medalist and 2007 double world champion Bernard Lagat now stands alone in the Millrose Games record book after winning the famed Wanamaker Mile for the eighth time at Madison Square Garden in New York on Friday, January 29, 2010, surpassing Irish legend Eamonn Coghlan's previous best total of seven wins. Lagat extend his lead over the final lap before crossing the line in 3:56.34. With his historic eighth win, Lagat collected all of the night's hardware, including Team USA Athlete of the Meet, presented by Visa, which comes with a $2,500 bonus. Lagat donated this, and all bonus monies earned during the 2010 indoor season, to the Haiti Relief Fund. Lagat followed that performance a week later with a win in the 5,000m at the Reebok Boston Indoor Games, where he set the American men's 5,000m record with this win in 13:11.50. At the 2010 World Indoor Championships in Doha, Lagat won his second gold medal in the 3,000m, crossing the finish line first in 7:37.97. After winning gold medals at the 2007 World Outdoor Championships, Lagat picked up two more medals when he finished third in the 1,500m and second at 5,000 meters at the 2009 World Outdoor Championships in Berlin, Germany. Lagat's 2008 season was highlighted by winning the men's 1,500m and 5,000m national titles at the U.S. Olympic Trials for the second time in his career, having first accomplished the feat in 2006. A lingering Achilles injury left him at less than 100% at the Olympics. In the final 100 meters of the men's 1,500m final at the 2007 World Outdoor Championships in Osaka, Japan, Lagat sprinted cleanly to the front and went on to cross the finish line first in 3 minutes 34.77 seconds. It was Team USA's first ever gold medal in that event at a World Outdoor Championships, and the first Olympic or World Championships 1,500m gold medal since 1908, when Hall of Famer Mel Sheppard won the Olympic title. In the Osaka 5,000m final, Lagat became the first man ever to win the 1,500m/5,000m middle-distance double at World Outdoors, and the first American to win a World Championship medal of any kind at 5,000m with his winning time of 13:45.87. On February 17 in Birmingham, Lagat broke the American record in the indoor 3,000m, with his time of 7:32.43. He also ran the fastest time in the world indoors 2007 in the mile with his 3:54.26 win at the 100th Millrose Games. Lagat had already piled up a series of wins in 2007, including the AT&T Outdoor Championships (5,000m), Millrose Indoor Games (mile) and Birmingham indoor (3,000m). He continued his domination of U.S. middle distance running in 2006 with his wins in the 1,500m and 5,000 meters at the AT&T USA Outdoor Championships in Indianapolis, becoming the first man ever to pull off the historic double. Also in 2006, Lagat posted the five-fastest 1,500m times by an American, and the fastest 5,000m time by a U.S. competitor with his win at London in 12:59.22. His 3,000m winning time of 7:34.41 in Rethymno on July 21 was the fastest by an American in 2006. A two-time Olympic 1,500m medalist for his native Kenya, Lagat competed for Kenya on August 24, 2004. "I thought long and hard before changing my nationality but, at the age of 30, I have to look to my future, after my running career has come to an end," Lagat said at the time. "I hope to continue running at the very highest level until at least the 2008 Olympics. A U.S. resident since 1996, Lagat is a graduate of Washington State University. IAAF rules state that an athlete changing national affiliation must wait three years since last competing for his native country before competing for a new country. Lagat became eligible to compete for the United States on August 25, 2007, one day after the beginning of the 2007 World Outdoor Championships in Osaka, Japan. Shortly after becoming a U.S. citizen, Lagat turned his attention towards rewriting the U.S. record books. He set two records from his 3:49.89 indoor mile at the Powered by Tyson Invitational in Fayetteville, Arkansas on February 11, 2005 including an official 3:33.34 record for the 1500m set en route to the mile victory. Those performances bettered the previous indoor records by Steve Scott (3:51.8, 1981) for the the mile and by Jeff Atkinson, (3:38.12, 1989) for the 1500 meters. His winning time of 3:29.30 at Rieti, Italy on August 28, 2005 in the outdoor 1500m was ratified as a new American record improving the 1985 record of 3:29.77 by Sydney Maree. . In growing up on his family's farm in Kapsabet, Kenya, Lagat sprinted a mile and a half to school each morning, and the same distance back. As much as he enjoyed running for fun, Lagat was even more passionate about his education. It wasn't until he began studying at Jomo Kenyatta University College of Agriculture and Technology that he got serious about running competitively. Lagat left Kenya for the United States when he received a scholarship from Washington State University in Pullman. The school was seeking star African runners, hoping to raise the profile of middle-distance and distance-running in the United States. Lagat was seeking academic advancement. He earned BA's from Washington State in Management Information Systems, and Decision Science (Econometrics). He reached All-American status twice in cross country and nine times in track and field while wearing a Cougar uniform. As a collegian, Lagat won the mile and 3000m races at the 1999 NCAA Indoor Championships, earning the title of NCAA Indoor Male Athlete of the Year. That same year, Lagat won the 5000m race at the NCAA Outdoor Championships. He accumulated four Pacific-10 Conference championships and was named Men's Track & Field Co-Athlete of the Year in 1999. He was Mountain Pacific Sports Federation Male Athlete of the Year on three occasions. Lagat became a father on January 12, 2006 when his wife, Gladys Tom, gave birth to son Miika Kimutai Lagat, Daughter Gianna was born November 2, 2008.

Career Highlights: 2009 USA Outdoor 1,500m champion; 8th at 2009 World Outdoor Champs; 3rd at 2008 Olympic Trials in 1,500m; 2007 NCAA Outdoor 1,500m champion; 2007 NCAA Indoor 3,000m champion; 3rd at 2007 NCAA Cross Country Championships

Lomong won his first career USA Outdoor title when he finished first in the men's 1,500 at the 2009 USA Outdoor Championships in 3:41.68. Later that summer he finished eighth in the final at the World Athletics Championships in Berlin, Germany. He ended the 2009 season after posting personal bests in both the 1,500m (3:32.94) and mile (3:53.35). The U.S. delegation flag bearer during the opening ceremonies at the 2008 Olympic Games in Beijing, Lopez Lomong has overcome an overwhelming array of obstacles in becoming a top American middle distance runner. When he was 6 years old, in 1991, his family fled Kimotong, Sudan, on foot to avoid an attack by the militia group, the Janjaweed. Lomong and his family ran for three days in the African wilderness to avoid the attackers. After being separated from his family upon arrival at the Sudan-Kenya border, he lived in a refugee camp run by Catholic missionaries for 10 years. Despite being separated from his family as one of the "Lost Boys of Sudan", Lomong says he is considered one of the lucky children as thousands of boys drowned, were eaten by wild animals or were shot by military forces. An essay that he wrote in 2001 about what he would strive to accomplish if he lived in America prompted officials to give him that chance. Lomong was moved to the U.S. to live with a foster family in Tully, N.Y., and became one of the 3,800 resettled youngsters known as the "Lost Boys of Sudan." Lomong became a U.S. citizen in July, 2007, while becoming a star middle distance runner at Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff. He enjoyed his best year in 2007, winning the NCAA Indoor 3,000m title in upsetting two-time NCAA champion Chris Solinsky in 7:49.74, and taking the NCAA Outdoor men's 1,500m crown in 3:37.07. He set a personal best and an NAU school record of 1:45.79 in placing fifth in the 800 meters at the 2007 AT&T USA Track and Field Championships, and he was named NCAA Mountain Region Male Track Athlete of the year by the USTFCCCA. Lomong, who turned pro after the 2007 NCAA Cross Country Championships, says his dream is to represent the USA in international competition, his way to thank those who have helped him. "I came to this country without expecting anything," said Lomong to USA TODAY. "Now I want to return the favor by being a good runner." Away from the track, Lomong, who enjoys hip hop music, is studying hotel management because he hopes to return to Africa to help revitalize the continent's tourism. He also wants to assist families confronted with multiple challenges in his home country.

Two weeks after capturing the 2008 NCAA Outdoor title in the women's triple jump with a windy 14.60m/47-11, McLain qualified for her first Olympic Team by placing third at the U.S. Olympic Trials...In 2007, she won her fifth career Pac-10 title with an American collegiate record mark of 14.15m/46-05.25...The future of U.S. women's triple jumping took center stage at the 2005 USA Outdoor Championships after McClain, a freshman at Stanford, enjoyed a resounding victory and earned a berth on the Team USA roster for the 2005 World Outdoor Championships in Helsinki. McLain broke her American junior record en route to her first U.S. title with a winning jump of 14.01m/45-11.75 on her third of six jumps. Her effort surpassed her previous American junior record of 13.78m/45-2.5 at the Pac 10 Champs in May. "Hitting the American junior record, that was cool," McLain said afterwards. "But it wasn't really my goal. My goal was meeting the "A" standard ("A" qualifying standard for the World Championships). I didn't even have the "B" standard coming into the meet." McLain was the youngest member of Team USA at 2005 World Outdoors...McLain, who was a three-time Texas state champion in the triple jump as a prepster, started her freshman season at Stanford with a second place finish at the NCAA Indoor Championships to earn her first collegiate All-American honor. McLain then won the Pac-10 outdoor triple jump to help the Cardinal women win the conference title, she then finished second at the NCAA West Regional, and then earned All-American honors for a second time with a third place finish at the 2005 NCAA Championships... Another notable performance by McClain was her 1st place finish at The Penn Relays, where she leaped 13.34m/43-9.25 for the win even though she had a sprained ankle...a two-time National Honor Roll member and a National English Merit Scholar in high school.

Miles qualified for his second Olympic Team and captured his first ever national outdoor title with his win at the 2008 Olympic Trials. With a clearance of 5.70m/18-8.25 at the Olympic Games, Miles equaled the third-place height, but ended up in fourth place because he had one miss at that height, while bronze medalist Denys Yurchenko of the Ukraine cleared it on his first attempt. Then on September 7, in front of the Brandenburg Gate in the German capital in a promotional competition for the 12th IAAF World Championships in Athletics, Berlin, Germany in 2009, Miles soared over a personal best equalling height of 5.85m/19-2.50. A week later Miles was crowned the World Athletics Final winner with a 5.80m/19.0.25 clearance in Stuttgart. "This year I've sorted something out technically that is making a considerable difference," Miles told the IAAF website. "If I can continue to develop that and make it a permanent fixture in my Pole Vault that even at my age I can jump higher. You learn something new on the technical side and it is helping me jump higher." Miles won his first U.S. title at the 2003 Indoor Championships, and was the top U.S. finisher at the World Outdoor Championships later that summer. He built on that momentum to make his first Olympic Team in 2004. The NCAA Division II runner-up as a senior at the University of South Dakota, Miles was a four-time All-American as a collegian. favorite hobby is paragliding, an activity he learned from fellow pole vaulter and training partner Tye Harvey...undergraduate degree in history and a masters degree in athletic administration...married Tori Devericks in May 2004.

After almost three years away from the track, Moore returned stronger than ever with a 2010 USA Outdoor title in a PR of 22.40. In 2006, Moore finished 7th at the USA Outdoor champs. She made the 4x100m relay pool for Team USA at the Olympic Games after her fifth-place finish in the 200m at the 2004 Olympic Trials she posted her best-ever NCAA finish in the 200m (5th - 22.65) and earned All-America honors in the event four consecutive years...at the 2003 NCAA East Regional championships, Moore broke school records in the 200m (22.63) to win and in the 100m (11.21) to finish third also in 2003 she anchored the 4x100m relay team set a new Penn State school record (44.25) she was the first Nittany Lion to earn indoor All-America honors below 800 meters...she set a Penn State school record in the 100m while competing on the 2000 U.S. World Junior Championships team in Santiago, Chile Growing up Moore was the fastest kid on the block, When I was about 10 years old I realized that nobody in my neighborhood could catch me I knew I was fast, but I really did not think much of it, I was just having fun. While at Penn State, Moore worked with kids that have special needs through a program called Life Link. The program brings young adults to a college campus and helps them find mentors in their lives. She has a degree in psychology and will then work towards a masters degree in clinical psychology next.

Career Highlights: 2008 Olympic Games bronze medalist; 2010 World Indoor Champs bronze medalist; 2008 Olympic Trials champion; 2010 USA Outdoor champ; 2008 USA Indoor champ; 2-time NCAA All American; 3rd at 2007 USA Outdoor Champs

Oliver's 2010 campaign got off to a strong start with his runner-up finish at the USA Indoor Championships in Albuquerque prior to capturing the bronze medal at the World Indoor Championships in Doha in a new personal best time of 7.44 seconds. Oliver's 2009 season was headlined by his win in Doha in 13.09 seconds, which was the fastest of the year by an American, and the third-fastest time in the world that year. A strained left calf muscle kept him from competing at the 2009 USA Outdoor Championships. Once an up-and-comer, Oliver is now a gold-medal threat in any competition. Oliver capped off a hugely successful 2008 campaign by winning the bronze medal in the 110m hurdles at the Olympic Games in Beijing. Oliver completed a sweep of the U.S. indoor and outdoor titles in the men's hurdles that year with his victory at the Olympic Trials in Eugene. Though slow out of the blocks in the final, Oliver rallied past two-time Olympic silver medalist, defending Olympic Trials champion and 2007 World Outdoor silver medalist Terrence Trammell to win in 12.95 (+2.5). Oliver also ran an outstanding semifinal race at the trials, crossing the line .01 under the American record, in 12.89, but aided by an illegal 3.2mps wind. It was the fourth-fastest time ever run under any conditions. Oliver ended the 2007 campaign with his first-ever world ranking from Track & Field News (#9). Oliver enjoyed a strong season in 2006, highlighted with his win in 13.25 seconds at the Berlin ISTAF Golden League meet in September when he defeated many of the world's biggest names in the 110m hurdles including 1996 Olympic gold medalist and multi world champion Allen Johnson, 2006 NCAA Outdoor champion Aires Merritt, Cuban record holder Dayrion Robles, 2006 European champion Stanislav Olijars and 2006 Commonwealth Games champion Maurice Wignall. The first two-time NCAA All-American in any sport from Howard University, Oliver, who owns both the Howard school and MEAC indoor and Outdoor hurdles records, was the school's first track and field athlete to earn that distinction since Calvin Branch in 1982. Also a football player at Howard, Oliver graduated with a BBA in marketing in the fall of 2004.

Phillips leaped back on the world stage in posting the longest jump in the world since National Track & Field Hall of Famer Mike Powell set the world record in 1991 at the 2009 Nike Prefonatine Classic. He easily won the event when he sailed to 8.74 meters/28 feet 8.25 inches, which ties him with Larry Myricks and Erick Walder for the eighth-best outdoor mark in history, and the trio are also tied as the #5 performers all time. Phillips won the men's world long jump title for the third time at the 2009 IAAF World Championships in Athletics at the 1936 Olympic Stadium in Berlin, Germany. Phillips won the event with his second attempt leap of 8.54 meters/28 feet .75 inch. Phillips joined National Track & Field Hall of Famer Jesse Owens as winners of the men's long jump competitions at the two major international championship competitions ever held at the Berlin Olympic Stadium. Phillips received his gold medal from Jesse Owens' granddaughter Marlene Dortch. German 1936 Olympic long jump silver medalist Luz Long's granddaughter Julia-Vanessa Long awarded the silver medal to runner-up Godfrey Khotso Mokoena of South Africa (8.47m/27-9.50). Phillips' three world titles (2003, 2005, 2009) tie Ivan Pedroso (1997, 1999, 2001) of Cuba for the most LJ wins ever at this event. Phillips won his third USA Outdoor men's long jump title in June, 2007 before capturing the bronze medal at the World Outdoor Championships in Osaka, Japan, and ending the season ranked #1 in the U.S. for the fifth consecutive year. Phillips ended the suspense early on at the 2005 World Outdoor Championships in the men's long jump final when he landed in the sand at 8.60m/28-2.75 on his first attempt to successfully defend his world title won in Paris in 2003. His performance not only equalled his career best, it also was the best jump in the world in 2005. Phillips, who ended the 2005 campaign in ownership of the top four jumps in the world that season, ended the year ranked #1 in the world by Track & Field News for the third consecutive year, joining an exclusive club that includes only Ivan Pedroso, Carl Lewis, Arnie Robinson, Ralph Boston and George Brown. He had an emphatic victory at the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens. Phillips won the competition with a leap of 8.59m/28-2.25, just shy of his personal best of 8.60m/28-2.75 set at Linz earlier in the 2004 season. It was the first U.S. Olympic men's long jump gold medal since Carl Lewis won at the 1996 Olympics in Atlanta. With Phillips' triumph in Athens, U.S. men's long jumpers have now won that event 22 times out of the 26 occasions the event has been contested in modern Olympic competition... In 2003 Phillips exploded on the world scene by winning the World Indoor and Outdoor Championships, establishing himself as the world's leading long jumper. Phillips started out as a triple jumper at the University of Kentucky, but after transferring to Arizona State in 2000, he has specialized more in the long jump. A native of Tucker, Ga., Phillips placed second in the long jump at both the 1999 and 2000 NCAA Indoor Championships. After fouling on his first qualifying attempt at the Olympics in Sydney, he jumped 25-11 advancing to the final on his third and last attempt of 26-8.25. He placed 8th overall at the Games...regarded as a medal possibility at the 2001 World Outdoor Championships, Phillips was unable to take his final three attempts in the final at Worlds due to a pulled right hamstring. He bounced back with a stellar 2002 that earned him a #3 world ranking behind fellow Americans Savante Stringfellow and Miguel Pate...As a high schooler, Phillips was a 1996 All-American and all-state selection. Set school records in triple jump (15.31m/50-3), 200m (20.90w) and 400m (47.50)...member of 4x400m relay team that set a national age-group record (3:06)... But who knew that at age 14 both his legs were broken in a motorcycle accident and it took two years for him to recover well enough to walk properly. "My brother's friend hit me while I was in the street playing football with my friends," Phillips said. "I didn't know where he was coming from and I moved in the wrong direction," to try to get out of the way. His legs were left twisted, requiring eight months of rehabilitation and using a walker after the casts were removed. Career Highlights: 2009 USA Outdoor champion; 2008 Olympic Trials champion; 2008 USA Indoor champion; 2007 NCAA Indoor mile champion and 3,000m runner-up

Two-time USA champion and 2008 Olympic Games seventh place finisher Shannon Rowbury posted the best finish by an American in a world outdoor championships women's 1,500-meter final in 10 years at the 2009 World Athletics Championships in Berlin. And then it got better. Rowbury was up near the front the entire way in the final and trailed Great Britain's Lisa Dobriskey by a few yards down the final stretch. Although Rowbury couldn't catch her, she finished fourth in 4:04.18. However, during the last lap, race winner Natalia Rodriguez of Spain tripped Ethiopia's Gelete Burka from behind. Following the race Rodriguez was disqualified and Maryam Yusuf Jamal (BRN) was declared the winner (4:03.74). Lisa Dobriskey of Great Britain (4:03.75) was awarded the silver medal, and Rowbury became the bronze medalist. In 2008, Rowbury turned in the top performance ever by an American woman in the Olympic 1,500m final. She ran a smart race from the gun, positioning herself in the top six and out of trouble as the pace came through at 65.90 for 400m and 2:13.70 for 800m. She finished seventh in 4:03.58, the highest placing for an American in the event...Rowbury entered the Olympic Trials as the prohibitive favorite in the women's 1,500 meters, and she delivered in convincing fashion. Strong and swirling winds kept the field packed tightly through the first two laps. Just past 1,000m, Rowbury took off and put on an impressive display of confident running and crossed the finish line in 4:05.48 - a very fast time in unfavorable winds...On May 18, 2008 at the adidas Track Classic, Rowbury won the 1,500 meters in four minutes, 1.06 seconds. It was the fifth-best time in U.S. history and under the Olympic "A" qualifying standard. That effort followed her first competitive 1,500 meters of the outdoor season on May 4 when Rowbury ran a then-personal best 4:07:59 at the Cardinal Invitational in California, almost five seconds faster than her previous top time... Rowbury has been on a gradual rise to global prominence as a middle-distance runner. She won the 800 meters at the 2001 National Scholastic Outdoor Championships while attending Sacred Heart Cathedral Prep School in San Francisco, Calif. At Duke University, she finished second in the mile at the 2005 NCAA indoor championships and won the Atlantic Coast Conference Southeast Region cross-country title that fall. She set her previous personal best in the 1,500 meters in July 2006 following redshirt indoor and outdoor seasons at Duke. In 2007, she won the NCAA Indoor mile title and finished as the runner-up in the 3,000m. A stress fracture in her hip knocked her out of the 2007 outdoor season...enjoys soccer and Irish dancing. Her official website is www.shannonrowbury.com.

Career Highlights: 2007 World Outdoor 4x100m gold medalist and 200m bronze medalist; 2005 World Outdoor silver medalist; 2009 World Outdoor 200m bronze medalist; 2006 and 2010 USA Outdoor champion; 2006 World Cup champion; 3rd at 2008 Olympic Trials in 200m; 2005 NCAA Indoor & Outdoor 200m champion; American indoor 200m record holder; 2004 NCAA Outdoor champion

Spearmon won 200m medals at his first two trips to the World Outdoor Championships (2005, 2007) and added a third at the 2009 World Championships in Berlin when he captured the bronze medal with his season's best time of 19.85 seconds. During the 2008 Olympic Games 200m final in Beijing, Spearmon came roaring back from a slow start to finish third in 19.95 seconds, but was later disqualified for a lane violation, running on the inside line. Spearmon proved his versatility in 2007 by ending the season ranked in the top ten in the world by Track & Field News for the first time in the 100 meters (#10) and posting a personal best in that event of 9.96 seconds in Shanghai. Spearmon was superb in the 200 meters again in 2007, with his runner-up finish at the USA Outdoor Championships and by winning the bronze medal at the World Outdoor Championships in Osaka. Spearmon had 200m wins at the Nike Prefontaine Classic, adidas Track Classic and Reebok Grand Prix in New York, where he posted his fastest time of the season of 19.82 seconds. In 2006 he won the USA Outdoor 200m title and bettered 19.90 seconds on five occasions, moving to #3 on the all-time list with his personal best of 19.65 in Daegu. Spearmon improved his then personal best to 19.89 seconds in 2005 with his win at London, which was the fastest time in the world that season. He capped off his tremendous 2005 campaign with his silver medal winning performance at the 2005 World Outdoor Championships, joining gold medalist Justin Gatlin, third-placer John Capel and fourth-placer Tyson Gay in a four-way USA sweep of the event. Spearmon sprinted away from an outstanding field on June 25, 2005 to successfully defend his NCAA 200m men's title in a then world-leading time of 19.91 seconds. Following his performance Spearmon announced that he would forego the remainder of his collegiate eligibility to pursue a professional running career...At the 2005 NCAA Indoor Champs, he fulfilled his potential with two American Records in the 200. He first ran 20.21 in the semifinals then improved to 20.10 in the final. Both broke the existing AR of 20.26 set by Shawn Crawford and John Capel in 2000. As a freshman, Spearmon became the first Razorback in history to win the NCAA Outdoor 200m title. He was a three-sport standout at Fayetteville HS, where he played basketball and wide receiver in football for two years. He earned all-state honors in the 100, 200, 400-meter dashes, the long (best of 7.14m/23-5) and triple (best of 13.94m/45-9) jumps, high jump (best of 1.98m/6-6) and 4x100 and 4x400-meter relay teams. He also competed in the decathlon and 300-meter hurdles. Spearmon's father, Wallace Sr., was a two-time All-American for coach McDonnell at Arkansas and was a part of the first national championship team in 1984 as a sprinter. He was a 200m bronze medalist at the 1986 Goodwill Games and 1987 Pan American Games. He competed for Team USA at the 1987 World Outdoor Championships in Rome, Italy, and now coaches his son.

Career Highlights: 2008 Olympic Trials 800m champion; 2009 and 2010 USA Outdoor champion; 2-time USA Outdoor runner-up ('06, '07); 2007 & 2010 USA Indoor champion; 7-time NCAA Div. III Outdoor champion (800m, 1,500m)

At the 2009 World Outdoor Championships Symmonds became the first American to make the men's 800m final since Rich Kenah won the bronze medal and Mark Everett finished eighth in 1997. He finished sixth in 1:45.71. Also in 2009, Symmonds again proved his national dominance in the men's 800 meters by winning his second consecutive USA Outdoor title with his time of 1:45.86, narrowly edging out four-time USA Outdoor champion Khadevis Robinson. Additionally in 2009, Symmonds finished third at Monaco with a new personal best time of 1:43.83. At the 2008 Olympic Trials men's 800m final, Symmonds used his kick coming off the final curve to propel himself to the win in a personal best time of 1:44.10 in qualifying for his first Olympic Team in front of his hometown fans in Eugene, Ore. His time at the Olympic Trials was the fastest time by an American in 2008. Symmonds won his first U.S. indoor title in 2007 and followed that up with a runner-up finish at the USA Outdoor Championships. He first proved his mettle on the elite level when he finished as the runner-up in the 800 meters at the 2006 USA Outdoor Championships in Indianapolis. His time of 1:45.83 was a personal best for the Division III national record holder from Willamette University in Oregon, who wore his high school singlet during the competition. He was a seven-time NCAA Division III outdoor track champion, winning every NCAA championship race in which he competed. He won both the 800 and 1,500 each year of his college career except his sophomore season, when injury limited him to only the 800. Symmonds was named the 2005 Division III Track and Field Male Athlete of the Year, and was the recipient of the prestigious Ad Rutschman Award, presented at the annual Oregon Sports Awards Banquet to the state's top small college athlete. Symmonds was the surprise winner of the 2005 Northwest Conference cross country championship, helping lead the Bearcats to another conference and regional championship, their fifth in a row. In his first career indoor race on January 13, 2006 in Seattle, Symmonds posted an impressive time of 3:56.72 for the mile. A 2006 graduate of Willamette University, where he studied biochemistry, Symmonds attended Bishop Kelly High School in Boise, Idaho. He now competes for the Oregon Track Club.

Career Highlights: 2009 World Outdoor Champs 400m silver medalist & 4x400m relay gold medalist; 2008 Olympic 400m silver medalist & 4x400m relay gold medalist; 2004 Olympic 400m & 4x400m relay gold medalist; 2-time World Outdoor 400m & 4x400m relay gold medalist ('05, '07); 2008 Olympic Trials runner-up; 2-time USA Outdoor champion ('04, '05); 2004 NCAA Indoor & Outdoor champion; 2006 Jesse Owens Award winner

In 2009 Wariner added to his ever-growing medals collection at the World Outdoor Championships where he captured the men's 400m silver medal and teamed up with LaShawn Merritt, Angelo Taylor, and Kerron Clement in winning the 4x400m relay gold medal. Wariner added to his glittering resume in 2008 by adding an Olympic silver medal in the open 400 meters and his second 4x400m relay gold medal to go along with the gold he earned in Athens in 2004. His winning time of 43.82 in Zurich on August 29 was the second-fastest time in the world in 2008. Wariner proved his 400m dominance again in 2007, winning the gold medal at the World Outdoor Championships in Osaka, Japan, with a personal best time of 43.45 seconds, which is the third fastest time in history. He has now been ranked #1 in the world four straight years. Wariner picked up where he left off in 2006 in posting a new 400m personal best of 43.50 seconds at the DN Galan GP in Stockholm on August 7, 2007. The performance equals the sixth-fastest time ever run (Quincy Watts, 1992). It also betters Wariner's previous personal best of 43.62 from his win in Rome on July 14, 2006, and it was the fastest time in the world since National Track & Field Hall of Famer Michael Johnson set the world record of 43.18 at the 1999 World Championships. In 2006, he broke the 44-second barrier three times, and posted the five fastest times in the world that season. Wariner saved his best performance for the biggest stage in 2005 in winning the gold medal at the World Outdoor Championship in Helsinki, Finland. Wariner won the race in a then personal best time of 43.93 seconds, and joined fellow Americans Lee Evans, Michael Johnson, Harry "Butch" Reynolds, Larry James, Quincy Watts, Danny Everett and Steve Lewis as the only athletes in history to break the 44-second barrier. At season's end, Wariner became only the ninth quarter-miler ever to repeat as the world's #1 ranked 400m in the 59-year history of the Track & Field News annual rankings.. The then 20-year-old Wariner shocked the world with his gold medal winning performance at the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens. With his win in his then personal best time of 44.00 seconds, Wariner became the youngest gold medalist in the event since 19-year-old Steve Lewis won in 1988 and posted the fastest time in the world since Michael Johnson in 2000. He also broke Johnson's Baylor school record. With Wariner placing first, followed by fellow Americans Otis Harris and Derrick Brew in second and third place respectively, the U.S. got its first sweep in the 400 since 1988. Later in Athens he ran the third leg on Team USA's Olympic gold medal winning 4x400m relay squad. Earlier in 2004 Wariner captured NCAA titles in both the indoor and outdoor 400 meters, setting stadium records at each championship. Wariner ran 44.71 at the outdoor championships in Austin and 45.39 at the indoor championships in Fayetteville, Ark. Wariner also led the Baylor 4x400-meter relay to a pair of national titles, setting an NCAA indoor record at 3:03.96 and clocking the fastest collegiate time this season of 3:01.03 at the NCAA outdoor meet. Winning was second nature to Wariner all season long, having lost only to his Baylor teammate, Darold Williamson. Wariner lettered in track and football at Lamar High School in Arlington, Texas, where he set school records in the 200, 400 and 4x100 relay...he holds the regional records in the 200 and 400 and won state titles in those two events...a member of the 2002 USA World Junior Team, Wariner is a three-time junior All-American in the 400...became a professional athlete after the Olympics...his nickname of "Pookie" is embroidered on his racing spikes...loves to watch the Food Network...owns a St. Bernard.

Career Highlights: 2010 USA Outdoors runner-up; NACAC gold medalist; USA vs. Germany runner-up; 2004 NCAA runner-up; Two-time All-American; Ten-time All-Conference; Texas Tech discus record holder

In Young's 2010 season, he threw a personal best of 69.90m/229-4, which at the time, was the top throw by an American, and the second farthest in the world. Following his major record throw, Young finished runner-up at USA Outdoors and continued to prove himself one of the top throwers in the world by competing in the international Diamond League meets. During his senior campaign, Young placed fourth in the weight throw at the Big 12 Indoor Championships, third in the hammer and second in the discus at the 2004 Big 12 Outdoor Championships. During the 2004 season Young also earned five first-place finishes and was ranked as a top 10 discus thrower in NCAA and open competition. After a successful Big 12 Outdoor Championships, Young went on to compete at the NCAA Outdoor Championships. He placed second in the discus throw and also set a new school record with his throw of 206'-5". During the 2003 Outdoor Season, Young was awarded All-American status in the discus with five first place finishes on the season including setting a school record of 202'-0" at the Midwest Regional for all-region status. He also placed fourth at Nationals with a mark of 194'-5". Young was also ranked in the top 10 for discus throwers in NCAA and open competition during his junior year. Young is a 1999 graduate of W.W. Samuell High School in Dallas, Texas and was one of top throws prospects in state of Texas as senior. He threw 170'-09" at the Junior National Meet, earning him a fifth-place finish. Young finished second in discus at state meet and Golden West Invitational. Young was also a gold medal winner in the discus at the 1999 USA Junior Olympics. Young placed sixth in the preliminaries of the 2004 Olympic trials and advanced to the finals. Young fell short of making it to Athens as he finished ninth in the finals. Young holds the school records in the indoor season weight throw with a 63'-1" and in the outdoor season discus and hammer throws with marks of 206'-5", his top mark of 2004, and 193', respectively.
